Griffin was started by two brothers in 2005. They grew up shooting BB guns and later 22s on the family farm where their fascination with silencers started at a young age. They joined the military after high school and started using silencers professionally overseas. After suffering hearing loss due to military service, they went on to pursue suppressor manufacturing. They understood the benefits of sound suppressors not only as hunters and sportsman but also as soldiers. Returning home, they launched Griffin Armament with who's goal is to provide industry leading sound suppressors and firearm products to users of all walks of life. Griffin focuses on creating innovative suppressors and firearms components. Every component of a Griffin product is scrutinized and evaluated through rigorous R&D and field-testing before manufacturing and inclusion in the product line. We are passionate supporters of firearms ownership, individual liberties, and the American way of life.

R&D

The name says it all; suppressors should be quiet, and our products are some of the quietest you can find. Don't believe us? We'll prove it.

All of our sound testing is performed using the industry gold standard Bruel & Kjaer LAN-XI which is a modular data acquisition system and analyzer that delivers unrivaled dynamic sound range.

This state-of-the-art testing system exceeds MIL-STD-1474D & E providing confidence to the end user that we strive to research, develop, and deliver the highest performing products with the most accurate test data.

ADDITIVE MANUFACTURING

Griffin Armament has been designing and prototyping additive-manufactured suppressors since 2009, but felt the technology had not become accessible or affordable enough to bring to market a feature-packed sound suppressor at a value-driven price. Recent advancements in 3D metal printing technology has changed this, and in response, Griffin has now moved to bring this technology in-house. This expensive integration will position us at the forefront of suppressor technology for many years to come, and vastly increase production capacity going forward. Griffin's 2026 line of additively manufactured suppressors are our highest performing and most durable suppressors ever.

NICKEL 625X™

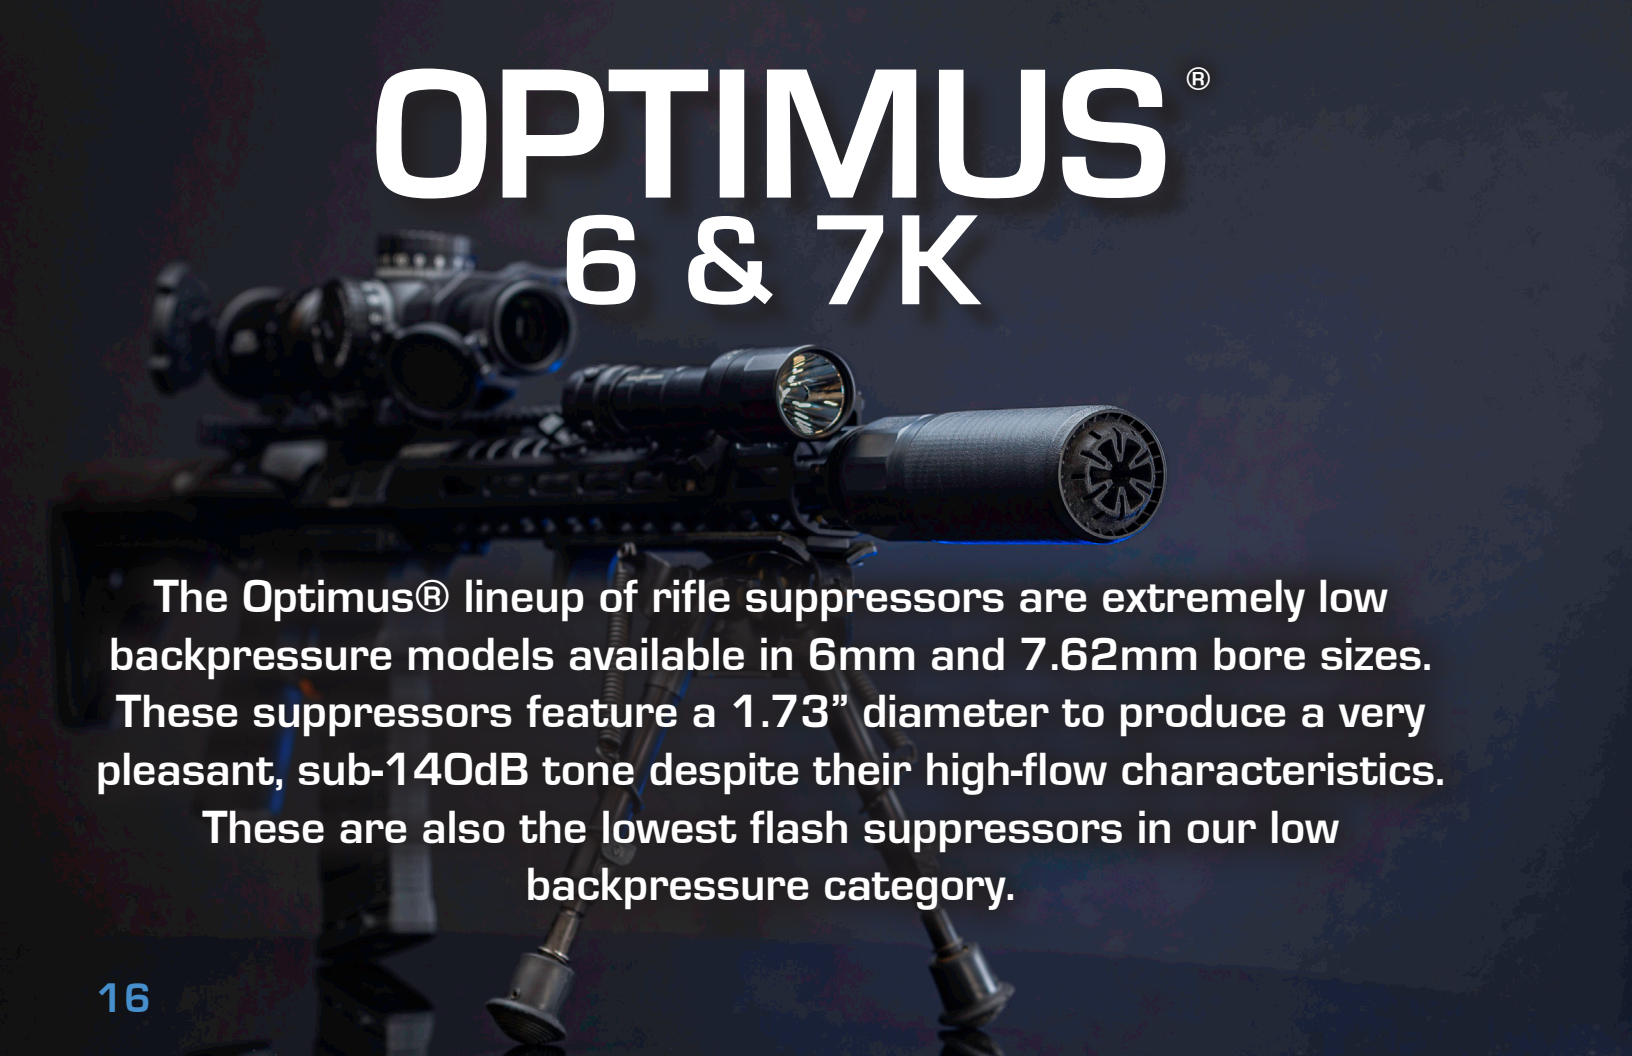

Griffin Armament's Nickel 625X™ is a patented, nickel-based powder superalloy developed specifically for SLM and DMLS additive manufacturing processes. At 1200°F, Nickel 625X™ demonstrates approximately 68% greater strength than additively manufactured INCONEL® 625 which, to the best of our knowledge, is used in the NGSW suppressors which see service to very high temperatures. Superalloys are inherently dense, so higher-strength options like Nickel 625X™ enable the design of lighter yet equally (or more) durable suppressors.

OPTIMUS®
6 & 7K

The Optimus® lineup of rifle suppressors are extremely low backpressure models available in 6mm and 7.62mm bore sizes. These suppressors feature a 1.73” diameter to produce a very pleasant, sub-140dB tone despite their high-flow characteristics. These are also the lowest flash suppressors in our low backpressure category.

which facilitates faster follow-up shots and allows the shooter to stay on target, see bullet traces, and spot impacts for immediate corrections. The time-able brake is held in place by a taper and secured by a threaded collar which can be loosened to time the brake to counteract the shooter's specific recoil impulse independent of the silencer's axial orientation when mounted to the host firearm. The brake can be replaced with a 17-4 SS flash hider end cap for hard use applications.

UNIVERSAL SUPPRESSORS

Bushwhacker®

The BUSHWHACKER® series was designed to exceed end user desires for the best large bore universal suppressors on the market. The BUSHWHACKER® suppressors were engineered to be more compact, more durable, with higher performance, and more mounting options than any other market suppressors in this category. The BUSHWHACKER® reigns supreme in the universal class.

The BUSHWHACKER® .46 has been recognized as the highest performing silencer on the market for .45-70 subsonic for two years running at the TBAC Sound Summit.

A2 TAPER MOUNT CAM-LOK® 3-LUG DUAL-LOK™ EZ-LOK™

BUSHWHACKER

Costly R&D resources were spent to develop the patent pending ECO-FLOW™ baffle technology for the BUSHWHACKER® 46. This baffle system provides reduced back pressure, greater structural strength, higher heat resistance for enhanced durability, and longer service life, as well as 5-7dB sound pressure level drops vs previous designs. This high-performance baffle technology allowed a reduction in overall length to a compact 7.75" while simultaneously increasing performance. These are typically inversely related variables in the world of suppressor R&D and represent a major win for the engineering department.

The BUSHWHACKER® retains the patented RATCHET-LOK™ end cap system, which allows users to fully take apart, clean, and maintain their suppressor. Carbon and copper deposits parasitically reduce volume inside suppressors over time, which reduces their sound performance. The RATCHET-LOK™ end cap system ensures that your BUSHWHACKER® 46 can be cleaned years after ownership, which resets your suppressor to factory weight and sound performance specifications.

BUSHWHACKER

After the success of the BUSHWHACKER® 46, Griffin sought out to provide the same great universal serviceable suppressor to the 36 caliber category. Using high performance ECO-FLOW™ baffles, Griffin was able to reduce overall length to a compact 7.2" while providing amazing sound performance. The light system weight of this suppressor allows for satisfactory application among a broad array of hosts, from 9mm pistols to magnum hunting rifles and everything in between. Common calibers that users can enjoy include but are not limited to 22lr, 7.62x39, 300blk, 5.56mm, 308win, 6.5CM, 300win, 338lm, .357mag, 9mm, and many more. LASER WELDED

While TIG welding is still a necessary and ideal technology for certain applications, laser welding provides an ideal weld for tubeless and additively manufactured suppressors.

Warpage reduction, consistent depth penetration, and precision CNC placement of the weld are benefits that allow laser welded silencers to achieve unbelievably light weight specifications while retaining the durability that you demand.

For Griffin's AM line, laser welding allows rapid and consistent penetration with high-strength superalloys.

It is free of wear-prone ratcheting parts, offering a lifetime of trouble-free use. The new flash hider end cap reduces system backpressure by peripherally venting gases, resulting in softer recoil impulses, less wear and tear on the host firearm, and reduces operator exposure to toxic gases. This managed backpressure unit offers incredible market leading sound and flash reduction with very little added backpressure.

HRT AM

The HRT AM lineup of suppressors reinvents the HRT family into an ultra low backpressure option optimized for extremely heavy courses of fire commonly seen in military and LE capacities. The full-size models feature a dual-wall blast baffle with radial cooling fins that rapidly and continuously expell heat from the blast chamber of the silencer, keeping overall temps lower and promoting a longer lifespan even under extreme full-auto usage. PSR™ 5 & 7

Griffin first made over the barrel suppressors over ten years ago with the introduction of the RSTA and SPR models. Meant to diminish blow back, kill flash signature, provide superlative accuracy, excellent POI shift characteristics and add minimal system length, these suppressors were highly desirable among suppressor aficionados. Griffin is reintroducing next generation over the barrel suppressors with the DUAL-LOK® PSR™ suppressor series. Never before has there been an over the barrel suppressor this light, strong, and high performance.

TERRA

ANODIZED

Terra Brown, or RAL8028, was a development here that was the result of an anodized test part that we liked for the color versatility. We realized an ability for this color to look good with FDE, Black, and OD Green furniture, and understood that kind of versatility was beyond what is possible with traditional FDE anodizing. Terra Brown was a color that seemed to excite a majority of the people who saw it, so we began working with an anodizer to re-create the one-off sample on various aluminum parts and materials including impact extrusions, forgings, 7075, and 6061. The end result is a unique, Griffin-exclusive color that we feel has a wider range of versatility with other color pallets than traditional FDE.

After the popularity of our exclusive Terra Brown anodized rifle color, we were looking to add a new color to expand our offerings. Warhawk Green is our take on the ODG color pallette, and harkens back to the color scheme of the venerable P-40 Warhawk fighter used extensively in World War II.

Low Profile Rails

Griffin Armament® Low Profile rails are a slim, low profile, ultralight, yet rigid M-LOK rail. Design objectives of this rail were to provide a slim, ultralight rail with increased rigidity over similar weight and profile current market options. A custom extrusion provides significant internal reinforcement to reduce flex when gripping the carbine firmly in the shoulder pocket. Understanding the importance of low light targeting, these reinforcements provide rigid mounting for IR laser aimers ensuring minimal POI shift when torque is applied to fore-grip type accessories, or when loads are applied to the rail (shooting off barricades, loaded bipods etc). Internal testing showed 70% less POI shift with laser aimers versus competing "slim rails". Carefully positioned slots in the rail allow for rapid cooling when running the carbine fast while maintaining rigidity.

Suppressor Ready Rails

Griffin Armament® M-LOK compatible Suppressor Ready Rails allow up to 1.5" outside diameter silencers to be mounted inside the octagonal M-LOK rail. This provides suppressor aficionados a sleek, and compact overall length to AR15 type firearms. These new rails features a close tolerance,1 heavy-duty, 7075 aluminum, T6, type 3 hard coat anodized finish. The barrel nut can be easily installed to 35-85 ft/lbs using the included Griffin Armorers Wrench. The new slip fit clamp design is extremely user friendly and does not require any shims or special timing methods. The clamp geometry in the rear section of the rail is low profile and ergonomically pleasing even for long durations of extended carry at static security positions.

SERVICE & ACCESSORIES

SILENCER REBUILD SERVICES

The worn silencer on the left suffered a mere 2dB increase in sound performance after 50,000 documented rounds by a law enforcement professional. It was then rebuilt with new parts, and refinished like the new suppressor on the right. If your suppressor is spray coated it can be refinished and most all Griffin suppressors can be rebuilt for a reasonable fee. For more info visit the “SILENCER SERVICE PRODUCTS” area of our website.
